

Lisa Gregory, M.S.

We have a duty and obligation as Behavior Analysts to be knowledgeable about the laws around our practice within our state, and to become involved with legislative initiatives that may affect the lives of consumers of our services. Recent legislation was passed in Connecticut to include BCBAs as mandated reporters of abuse, neglect or exploitation, which will go into effect on July 1st. We'll review the current law in Connecticut concerning mandated reporters, and what changes this new legislation involves. We will also review the process of reporting, including ways to manage difficult situations that might arise as a result.
